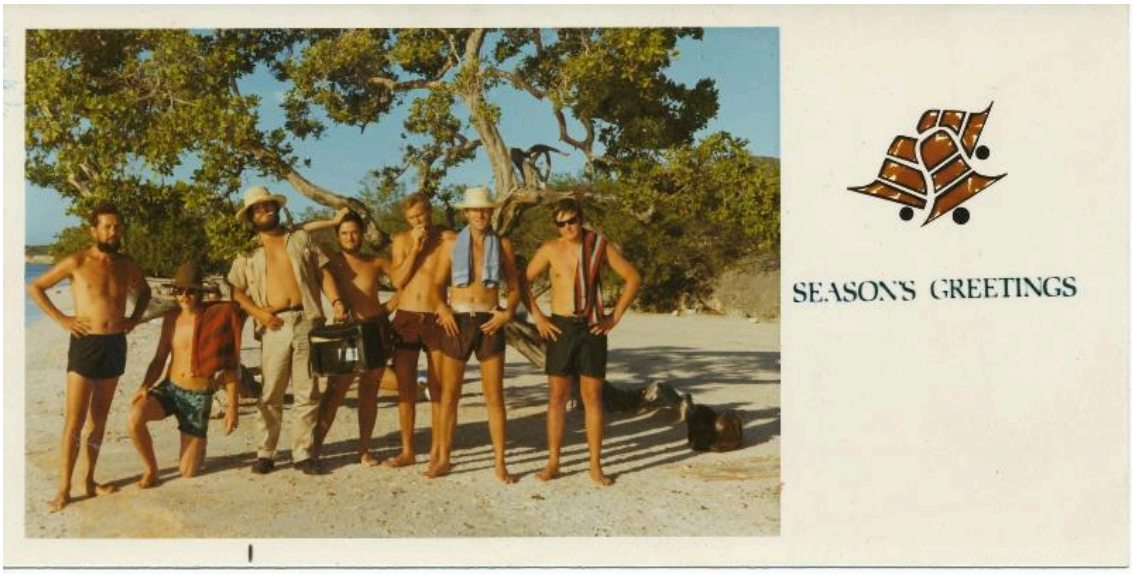
Since the Regina Maris Reunion of 2013 is now history, it seems appropriate to give our group of Regina alums a new name: The Regina Maris Society. Simple, and it states the obvious -We are a loose community united through our service on the RM.

Regina Maris Society News Briefs

- Thanks to Peter Beier (rm67) for providing a Regina Maris poster to each of the Reunion Attendees.
- Thanks to John Kerr (rm71) for providing Reunion Attendees copies of Chapters 1 and 2 of his History of the Regina Maris. John continues to work on the book and hopes to have it published soon.
- Marc Orbach (rm76-78) is working on getting an ORES-era T-shirt design reprinted. Stay tuned here for ordering instructions
- Ken Balcomb (rm76-84) continues to work on transcribing his Regina diaries.
- Steve Nelson (rm79) is researching how to digitize the ship's plans, logbooks, diaries, and half models to museum standards. He is also researching how to archive, preserve, and store the physical documents after they are scanned.
- A Regina Maris scale model is in the research & planning stages by one of us.

- A "ReginaMaris1908" Flickr Group has been formed to share, discuss, label, tag, map, and date the digital images scanned from slides. This is a closed Flickr group open only to Regina Maris crew, so drop a line to reginamaris1908@gmail.com if you'd like to be invited to join in.

Jolly Holiday Picture & Story Share



The 3-picture share at the Reunion Cinema Night proved to be such a great time that a Holiday variation on the theme seems like it would be similarly successful. So here's the request: one photo submitted by each of you that depicts a Regina Holiday or Event that you shared with your shipmates. Christmas is good, but so is any holiday (Thanksgiving, Easter, Fourth of July, etc) or maritime event (Crossing the Equator, Surviving a Hurricane). I'm going to share my memories of a Christmas spent anchored in le Mole, Haiti in 79. I know there were some cold Christmases spent in icy shipyards, and there was certainly more than one Equator crossing visited by Neptune himself. If you can't find a picture, send in your diary entry for a Holiday, or scribble out a brief description of your favorite Regina Holiday Event.

The December Jolly Boat No. 16 will be devoted to whatever Holiday Pictures and Stories you all send in.

How to Submit:
Send in JPG picture files to reginamaris1908@gmail.com and put "Holiday" in the subject line. In the body of the email include the reporter facts: who, what, when, where, why.

Assistant Jolly Boat Editor needed:

If any of you would like to help organize and edit the Special Edition Holiday JollyBoat, let me know.
